

The Phoos Move In

This is Sandy  . Sandy and his family have just moved. This is Sandy's new house  .  and his dog Jupiter  decide to explore their new house.

In the backyard they find lots of trees  . In one  they find a swing. In the top of another  they find a fort.  finds a rabbit hole and  finds a blackberry patch.

Inside the house,  and  find lots of closets and cupboards. There are many good hiding places in this new house. They also find something quite surprising. They are not the only ones that live in this house. Somebody besides  and  live in this house. Somebody besides Sandy's mom  and dad  live in this house. In fact, there is another whole family that lives in this house. It is a family of little creatures called Phoos.

Before  and his family moved in, the Phoos  lived in the cupboards and corners of this house. They hid under the rugs, slid down the stairs, went swimming in the sink, and built a little tiny playground under the couch.

When  and  went exploring, father  was worried. "We may not have any place left to hide," he said. When  put his nose in the corner behind the big blue lamp, he bumped two little  .

"It may become very dangerous for us to live here," said mother  .

“But we like it here,” said all the  children. “It is fun to slide down the stairs, and to hide under the rugs. We like to swim in the kitchen sink. We don’t want to move.”

Just then ’s tail knocked over a lamp . The  came crashing down. All the  ran for their lives.

“That’s it,” said father , “we have to move.”

All day father and mother  thought about moving. Where could they go? Father  paced back and forth, through the living room and into the kitchen. Suddenly he noticed the refrigerator  door was open. He noticed cans and cartons, bowls and jars, many places where a Phoo could hide.

That night the Phoo family moved into the kitchen. They built their playground in the drawer where the salad greens  were kept. They found a big chocolate cake  which was dark and gooey, a great place for lots of Phoos to hide.

There was watermelon . “Someone else already lives here,” said mother  when she saw all the little seeds. Only two Phoos hid in the watermelon. The egg carton  had many places to hide. A great many of the  hid there. Father  hollowed out the cheese . Lots of  hid there also. A few  found that a bowl of vegetable soup  was a good place to swim. They dived in.

In the morning  went to the refrigerator to get his breakfast. The  were well hidden. At first  didn't notice them. But when  barked, 2 little  woke up and yawned.  heard the  yawn and he began to look very carefully. He found the  hiding in the  . He found some in the cheese  . Can you help  and  find all the  ?

This story was written by Joan Zerzan, MS, RD.

University of Washington PKU Clinic
CHDD - Box 357920, Seattle, WA 98195

(206) 685-3015, Toll Free in Washington State 877-685-3015
<http://depts.washington.edu/pku>