Political Science/LSJ/JSIS Writing Center

Tutor Application for Spring 2011

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON
Departments of Political Science & Law, Societies and Justice

The Writing Center is accepting applications from outstanding undergraduate writers in Political Science and LSJ to work as tutors in the Political Science/LSJ/Jackson School Writing Center.

Tutors work one-on-one with students to help them improve their writing. Tutors also make announcements about the Center to classes and carry out other administrative tasks. Tutors will be required to attend workshops to learn how to teach writing, and must be available to work at least six hours per week.

Tutors may receive either 3 ungraded credits of Political Science 499 for each quarter they work in the Center or an hourly wage. Tutors are classified as hourly academic student employees. See <http://www.washington.edu/admin/hr/laborrel/contracts/uaw/addons/> for more information.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the Center Director at writdir@uw.edu.

Eligibility

Junior or senior standing in Political Science or LSJ with strong verbal and writing skills.

How to To Apply

Submit your application by 4:00 pm, Friday, February 18, to the Political Science

Department Office in Gowen 101. Include this completed form and

- A one-page letter explaining why you are a suitable candidate and are interested in being a tutor,
- An unofficial transcript,
- A writing sample (a Political Science or LSJ paper with instructor comments is preferred).

We will contact suitable applicants to arrange interviews by February 25, and make tentative offers by March 4, 2011.

The University of Washington is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.
