

Introduction to ASD and Inclusion Tips for Paraprofessionals

Paraprofessionals in inclusion classrooms are often one of the primary service providers for students on the autism spectrum, but do not always have targeted training in Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). This workshop will give participants an overview of ASD and discuss the impact of ASD on school behavior. Tips to positively impact behavior and provide appropriate support will be offered, including information about using visual supports.

Course Objectives:

- Learn how to use students' interests as motivators and reinforcers for participation and work completion
- Learn how to use routines and visual supports to increase independence
- Learn effective accommodations and modifications
