

Helping Parents to be Teachers: Strategies for Support through Online Coaching

Although parents are the lifelong teachers for their children, many of them did not quite have our current situation in mind when it came to schooling for their child. In this workshop designed for teachers and providers, participants will learn to conduct an online parent coaching approach designed to (a) help parents understand the learning objectives, (b) help teachers/providers conduct an interactive learning session where the parent is working with their child, and (c) support feedback and planning for the next session. Tips and troubleshooting suggestions for parent coaching will also be covered.

Course Objectives:

- Describe parent coaching model
- Name 3 key elements for conducting a successful interactive learning session
- Describe 2 strategies for delivering feedback
- Describe common challenges and possible suggestions for trouble shooting parent coaching

Who should attend: Teachers engaging with preschool or elementary school students remotely via online instruction who are looking for solutions for supporting parents working with/teaching their child at home.

CEUs & Clock Hours: 1.5 BACB CEUs or WA State Clock Hours (additional fees apply)
