

“Psychiatric Illness and Ethnic Minorities: What Do We Know? Where Should We Go in Eliminating Disparities”?

Presented by Dr. Jeanne Miranda, PhD

Professor, UCLA Department of Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences

Wednesday January 28, 2009

2:00 – 4:00 PM

UW School of Social Work ~ 3rd Floor Commons
4101 15th Ave NE / Seattle, WA 98105

This presentation will address how mental health care disparities can be eliminated, along with a description of methods to overcome access and quality of care differences by ethnic group. The presenter will help the audience improve their understanding of mental health care for ethnic minorities in the United States. Furthermore, the presenter will discuss the rates of mental disorders, and the responses to evidenced-based care by ethnic minorities.

Jeanne Miranda, Ph.D., is a Professor in the Department of Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences at UCLA. She is a mental health services researcher who has focused her work on providing mental health care to low-income and minority communities. She holds a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology from University of Kansas and completed post-doctoral training at University of California, San Francisco. Dr. Miranda's major research contributions have been in evaluating the impact of mental health care for ethnic minority communities.

REGISTRATION

Seating is limited, so reserve your space early at

<https://catalysttools.washington.edu/webq/survey/dianek4/67307>

Questions? Please email Diane Klindt at dianek4@u.washington.edu

