

A Teen's Bill of Rights

I HAVE THE RIGHT:

1. To ask for a date.
2. To refuse a date.
3. To suggest activities.
4. To refuse any activities, even if my date is excited about them.
5. To have my own feelings.
6. To say I think a friend's information is wrong or his/her actions unfair.
7. To tell someone I don't like him/her to interrupt me.
8. To have my limits respected.
9. To spend my money the way I want to, even if it is foolish.
10. To tell my partner I want affection.
11. To be heard.
12. To refuse to lend money.
13. To refuse affection.
14. To refuse sex with anyone who just took me out on an expensive date.
15. To tell my partner I want sex.
16. To refuse sex, anytime.

I HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY:

1. To determine my limits.
2. To respect the limits of others.
3. To communicate clearly and honestly.
4. To not violate the limits of others.
5. To ask for help when I need it.
6. To be considerate, but not submissive or aggressive.
