The University of Washington Police Department is looking for qualified members of the community to join our VIPS program. Volunteers help the department accomplish its mission by providing services to our university community.

“Enhancing Public Safety through Citizen Involvement”

Volunteers support sworn and civilian personnel by performing duties within their area of expertise. Such duties include:

- ◆ Photography
- ◆ Graphic design
- ◆ Word processing
- ◆ Data entry
- ◆ Internet research
- ◆ Neighborhood watch
- ◆ Translation
- ◆ Customer service
- ◆ Special event support
- ◆ Computer programming
- ... and much more!

WHY YOUR SERVICE IS IMPORTANT TO US

Volunteers enhance public safety and help maximize our resources. Volunteers also help us create valuable ties to our community. We are excited to extend this opportunity to those who wish to serve their community as part of a nationally accredited police agency.

Volunteer:

“A person who performs duties and services for an organization without promise and without expectation or receipt of compensation for the duties and services they provide.”
